Chaste Tree

Has been shown to provide relief from premenstrual symptoms by rebalancing hormone levels that lead to symptoms like breast tenderness, migraines, irritability, cravings, fatigue, and cramps.

Chaste Tree contains flavonoids that act in a manner similar to progesterone. By acting on the pituitary, it normalizes the release of Follicle Stimulating Hormone (FSH) and Luteinizing Hormone (LH). There is no data that shows any decrease in libido when it is used. This effect can improve the chances of planned conception by regulating cycles and prolonging the fertility window.
